Objective

Dr. Hossein Mousazadeh aims to advance the fields of Quality of Life, Well-Being, and Community Development through impactful interdisciplinary research and innovative education in sustainable development, community empowerment, and tourism. The central goal of his research is to promote health equity by addressing structural factors that influence community quality of life, well-being, and overall health outcomes. Dr. Mousazadeh strives to empower local communities and foster sustainable growth by integrating evidence-based practices with experiential learning opportunities. Passionate about creating inclusive environments, he seeks to bridge the gap between theory and practice, addressing the diverse needs of individuals, families, and communities. Through collaborative teaching and research, he aims to cultivate future leaders who champion diversity, resilience, and meaningful contributions to communities. Dr. Mousazadeh are Research Fellow at International Society for Quality-of-Life Studies (ISQOLS), Faculty Affiliate, Institute for a Sustainable Future (ISF); Faculty Affiliate, Women's Global Health Institute (WGHI) at Purdue University, and member of The Interdisciplinary Network on Rural Population Health and Aging (INRPHA).
